The Westchester Center for Jazz and Contemporary Music is a school dedicated to providing opportunities for musicians of diverse backgrounds, abilities and ages to develop their skills playing jazz and related forms of modern music. We believe in integrating performance and education. The teaching philosophy of the Center is based on the premise that performing and teaching are mutually beneficial. Working alongside professional musicians, our students not only learn to play, they learn to perform. The Center believes that everyone should have access to quality music education. Our costs are intentionally set lower to allow for Scholarships and lower costs for those in need.
